Safe Clean Drinking Water

As part of our commitment to high quality, safe, clean drinking water and reliable services for rural communities, upgrade works are being undertaken at the Toora and Fish Creek treated water storage basins. New liners and floating covers will be installed on both basins, replacing the existing liners which are now past their useful life.

The water storage basins both hold 1 million litres and are used to store water once it has been treated, the basins provide system capacity and ensure a reliable supply of water in the event of a burst water main or treatment plant interruption.

Made from a durable plastic material the liners fully seal the basins and include a floating cover, to ensure that once treated, water remains in pristine condition for customers. At nearly 20 years old, the existing liners and covers require replacement. South Gippsland Water's Managing Director, Philippe du Plessis said that, "The liners at Toora and Fish Creek, are the first of six being replaced as part of the Price, Services, Future Plan which provides a $3.3M investment to maintain high quality water for our customers across the region".

We can't fight this virus alone. Wear a face mask. If you have symptoms, get tested then stay home. We need everyone to play their part as staying apart, keeps us together.

Upsizing Wonthaggi's Sewer Pipes

Looking towards the future in our Price, Services, Future Plan, we have been working to upsize 1,322 meters of old sewer pipe in three separate areas of Wonthaggi.

Recent planning and modelling work has identified and prioritised pipes to be upsized to cater for Wonthaggi's development and population growth. In recent years Wonthaggi has been one of South Gippsland Water's fastest growing towns, at 4% each year.

Without these upgrades to capacity, Wonthaggi's sewer system risks sewer spills during wet weather and storm events as well as compliance issues with respect to Environment Protection Authority (EPA) standards.

Sewer pipes and old sewer manholes are being replaced in three locations:

- Murray Street - 409 meters
- Graham Street - 759 meters
- McKenzie Street 154 meters

Works in McKenzie St, Feb 2020

Reaching Out To Businesses

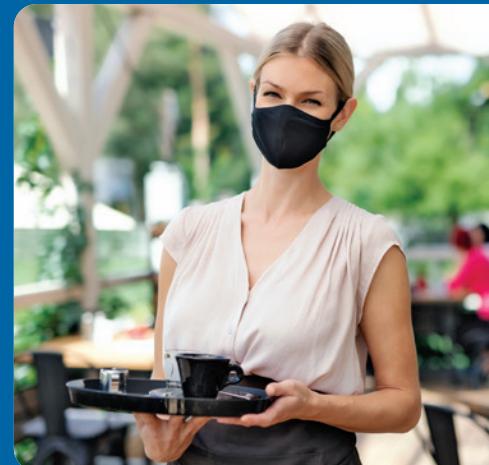

A specialised program to reach out to our business customers commenced in May 2020. The outreach program is designed to work in partnership with businesses across the South Gippsland Region.

Coronavirus (COVID-19) has impacted individuals very differently, particularly our local businesses. We are proactively working with business customers across the region to reach out and further understand where we may help and find the best possible path forward on a one to one basis. South Gippsland Water's Managing Director, Philippe du Plessis, noted that "We have taken a proactive approach to reaching out to customers who may have found themselves in unfamiliar circumstances. We are raising awareness of our support initiatives for those who may need them".

With an initial focus on the tourism, hospitality, and retail industries we have a dedicated officer for customers who require a little further help.
